

BOREA ADVENTURES // ICELAND

Sailing, Skiing, Kayaking, Hiking & Wildlife Trips in High Latitudes

Participants are required to sign this booking form to confirm that they understand and have accepted Borea Adventures booking conditions.

The Borea Adventures trips/voyages are of an adventurous nature and to relatively remote places in Iceland, Greenland and other places. Borea Adventures makes best effort to stick to the planned itinerary but participants must appreciate and acknowledge that the trip/voyage requires considerable flexibility. The company and captain of the vessel reserve the right to adjust the itinerary without notice for reasons beyond their control such as weather, ice-conditions or other unpredictable or unforeseeable circumstances. Once departed on the voyage the captain will have final say on all decisions affecting safety etc and this must be accepted by all participants. Nonetheless the captain or Borea Adventures can not be held responsible for incidents, accidents or physical injuries.

Participants wishing to cancel their booking must notify Borea Adventures in writing immediately. The following cancellation charges will apply (calculated per person), counting from the date a notification is received:

- 25% of trip price if cancelled formally more than 90 days prior to departure
- 50% of trip price if cancelled formally 89-60 days prior to departure
- 100% of trip price if cancelled formally within 60 days prior to departure

Borea Adventures is not obliged to make any kind of reimbursement for trips which are interrupted or shortened by participants themselves for any reason whatsoever. We STRONGLY recommend you obtain cancellation insurance if you don't have travel cancellation, delay, and baggage loss/damage coverage already (such as through premium credit cards or other insurance providers).

If Borea Adventures must cancel the trip for any reason, the participants will be informed no later than 30 days before the trip departure and any payments made to the company will be fully reimbursed. However participants will not be able to make any claims for compensation for consequential losses such as changes to flight tickets etc.

Sailing and other outdoor activities in the trips can be dangerous and require an average level of fitness and good health. It is the participants responsibility to ensure that they obtain proper and detailed medical advice.

In case of a medical problem arising during the voyage, either onboard or on shore, which results in medical expense including but not limited to costs for evacuation with use of aircraft and repatriation, the responsibility for payment of these costs belongs solely to the respective participant. We require that the participants ensure that such eventualities are covered by travel insurance. If for any reason an incident is not covered by travel insurance, the responsibility still remains with the participant and Borea Adventures specifically declines any responsibility whatsoever. Be aware that a normal travel policy may not cover you for some geographical areas and there may be exclusions for what they describe as "hazardous sports," which may include sailing, climbing, skiing and diving (especially in remote areas). Before arrival participants must provide the following information:

- personal insurance contract number, name and address of insurance company and their emergency telephone number.
- name, address and telephone number for first of participants family members whom we should contact if necessary.

Any personal belongings taken onboard the yacht by participants are so taken entirely at the participants risk and Borea Adventures shall have no liability for any loss or damage occurring to them.
